MORE SWATOW TROUBLE.

BOYCOTT OF BRITISH SHIPS AND GOODS.

CANTON AGAINST EXTREMISTS

The Swatow situation is again critical, the Cargo Brokers' Union having issued an intimation that there must be no dealings in cargo brought by British ships after to-day (Wednesday), whilst all cargo in British godowns must be cleared and no further consignments placed therein. Penalties for infringements of this decision include the dragging of offenders through the streets and the imposition of fines.

A representative from the Canton Strike Committee has, however, arrived and intimated to the General Labour Union that, on the orders of the Canton Government, British shipping must not be interfered with and that intimidation will be severely dealt with. Intimidation still continues, nevertheless.

There are also serious labour troubles, resulting in a strike by thirteen Unions, with threats of a general walk-out.

Writing under date of yesterday, our correspondent says:

The local situation is again most disconcerting. Commencing with trouble, which ended in fighting, between the "Farmers and Peasants" Union and the detachments of the Whampoa Cadet Corps in Chaochow-Fu, representing the Left and Right wing of the Kuomintang respectively, the whole district appears to be ripe for serious trouble and will require careful handling on the part of the authorities.

The clash between Farmers and Peasants and the Whampoa Cadets resulted in two or three of the former being killed. This, of course, led to threats and counter-threats from either side, each party demanding the execution of the opposing leaders. The authorities have been doing their utmost to reconcile these two parties and have even promised to dismiss the Leader of the Cadet Party and one other said to have been responsible for the shooting.

CADETS RETALIATE.

While this promise was not enough to satisfy the Farmers and Peasants, it was more than enough to incense the Cadets, and last evening they took the law into their own hands and arrested Lee Chung-too, one of the three leaders of the Farmers' and Peasants' Union. His two colleagues, Yoo Chia-hoon and Pung Tak-sue, escaped and are at present in hiding.

At the same time there has been similar trouble in Swatow between the medicine shop employees and the medicine hongs. This originated in a demand from the former for increased wages and eventually led to fighting, during which two of the medicine hongs people were stabbed to death and several severely wounded.

This led to thirteen Unions in all going out on strike in sympathy with the medicine hongs and brought banking and shipping to a standstill as both these Unions were affected. A general strike was threatened, but there is at present a temporary lull while the Chinese Chamber of Commerce act as arbitrators in an endeavour to arrive at a settlement.

During all this, the officials of the General Labour Union have been well to the fore and, as they are out-and-out Bolshevik in their ideas and professedly anti-British, their aim throughout appears to have been an extension of the boycott of British goods and trade generally and the creating of trouble for the moderate element, who are more than anxious to resume normal relations.

Letters of intimidation are being sent to individual merchants threatening them with all sorts of fines, etc., should they handle British goods or carry on business of any kind with British firms.

UNION'S THREATS.

Messrs. Yak Guan Cheang, Swatow.

Dear Sirs,—At a General Meeting of our Union held at 8.00 p.m. on the 4th inst. it was decided to strictly carry out the extension of the economical boycott by breaking off all intercourse with the British and at same time to form a Committee to extend our economical rights in anti-British matters. It was therefore decided not to have any further dealings with cargo brought in by British steamers after the 10th inst.

Telegrams announcing the above decisions have been sent abroad and our Members should conduct their business accordingly and if anybody attempts to ruin our procedure by secret dealing or other acts contrary to the above they will be liable to be punished by being dragged round the town as a warning to the public and to be further fined according to the quantity of cargo handled by them.

Members will co-operate to boycott those found to be dealing secretly with the British.

All cargo at present in British godowns must be cleared there from before the 10th inst. and no further cargo must be landed into those godowns.

The following fines will be enforced:—

1.—$100 for buying bag cargo, and a further fine of $1 per bag according to the quantity.

2.—$100 fine for buying bean cake and a further fine of $1 per piece according to quantity.

3.—$100 fine for buying merchandise besides handing over such cargo to the Commission Committee for a further fine or otherwise.

4.—After approved by our Commission Committee, to the fact that cargo was bought tempting to ruin our procedure, an amount of 5 per cent of the fine is to be rewarded to any of our members.

THE SWATOW CARGO-BROKERS UNION.

This is, of course, contrary to all the statements issued by the Canton Government, but it would seem that without drastic action of some kind the Government are quite unable to control the various Unions.

CANTON ORDERS.

That there is at least a wish to do so is indicated by the fact that a Mr. Lee Sim, representing the Canton General Strike Union, arrived here yesterday and addressed a meeting of the General Labour Union last evening. He stated that he had been instructed by the Canton Government to inform them that they were not to interfere with British shipping or with Chinese who wished to use British ships. With regard to British goods, that was a matter for the people themselves to decide, but if they wished to use such goods, they were to be allowed to do so and that any intimidation on the part of the Unions would be severely dealt with by the Government. Nevertheless the intimidation still goes on.

DR. WANG ON CHINA OUTLOOK.

NATIONALISTS SHOULD GO SLOW.

APPEAL TO AMERICA.

Some interesting opinions on the Chinese situation are expressed by Dr. C. T. Wang, the former Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Peking Government in the course of an interview with a representative of the Canton Gazette: Dr. Wang is at present on a brief visit to Canton, and is shortly to go to Manila and Singapore, and possibly Europe.

In the course of his interview, Dr. Wang said:—"It would perhaps be better for the Nationalist cause if the new expansion were not hastened too greatly. The task of consolidating power and organising new government is an enormous one which is made more difficult as the new territory to be consolidated is enlarged. In any event, however, he sees the expansion of Nationalist power as a tremendous factor in changing the attitude of the western Powers toward China.

"Great changes in the attitude of the Powers toward China are in the cards," he says. "As one who has watched intimately the relations of China with the Western world for many years, I should like to see America take the lead in this new policy of the West toward China.

"It is a grave disappointment to all of us to see these dispatches from Washington indicating that the Washington Government is disinclined to give recognition to the Nationalists. America's position in the hearts of the Chinese has always been a splendid one. Her course towards us has always been fine. She has never had bad intentions toward us. But we could wish that now, seeing as she must that the whole Chinese situation is a changing one, she would be the first to recognize those changes and to bring about changes in general western policy by herself taking the lead in giving recognition to the changed state of affairs.

"All the Powers will change, and that quite soon, I do believe. For many, many reasons, some of them sentimental, some coldly realistic, I should wish to see America take the lead. It is her predestined role to take the lead in such a course."

UNMUZZLED DOGS.

EUROPEAN LADIES PROSECUTED.

A summons against Mrs. Squires, of No. 15, Leighton Hill Road, on an allegation that she allowed her dog to wander abroad unmuzzled and not held with a leash, was dismissed by Mr. R. E. Lindsell this morning on its being ascertained that the animal was only a puppy, less than three months old.

Mrs. Hanlon, who appeared in answer to a similar summons, was fined $5 on admitting the offence.

CLERICAL ERROR.

ONLY $80,000,000. WRONG.

New York, Nov. 9. A clerical error was responsible for a discrepancy of $80,000,000 in the report of brokers' loans from the New York Banks for October which is issued by the Stock Exchange and Clearing House of the Banks. After ingenious theories had been advanced to explain the discrepancy, an expert examined the figures with the aid of the computation chart. A correction has, therefore, been issued, reducing the loans by $80,000,000. —Reuter's American Service.

SUN IN RETREAT.

WITHDRAWING FROM KIANGSI.

INVASION OF FUKIEN.

It is clear from the latest indications that the Southern troops are making a clean sweep of Kiangsi, for a wireless message from the Army Headquarters at Ko-an, received in Canton yesterday, states that Nanchang was captured on the previous day at noon.

Following this report, a Reuter's telegram from Shanghai, received here this morning, says it is officially stated that Marshal Sun Chuan-fang is withdrawing all his troops from Kiangsi Province.

THE INVASION OF FUKIEN.

The Nationalist troops are, according to Chinese reports, now successfully invading Fukien province, having at present reached the neighbourhood of Yeu Ping, an important strategic point about eighty miles from Fookchow, where General Chow Yun-yan has established his headquarters.

The Nationalist units since crossing the Kiangsi-Fukien frontier have pushed forward with great rapidity, first capturing Ting Chow and then Shinowu, and from these two points they are now threatening Yeu Ping as the result of very

CHINA SITUATION.

Mr. Baldwin's Message of Sympathy.

London, Nov. 9. Speaking at the Lord Mayor's banquet in the Guildhall, the Prime Minister (Mr. Stanley Baldwin) said: "We were confronted with a difficult situation in China, damaged to our interests there, but it was far too difficult and complicated for immediate discussion. He would like to express his anxious sympathy with the British communities in the Far East in view of the trouble, losses and anxieties facing them to-day and to assure them of our earnest desire to negotiate in a friendly spirit for a settlement of such difficulties as have arisen between China and the other Powers, including ourselves."

creditable forced marches. These units are under the command of General Lai Sai-wong, who went over to the Nationalists when the Southern forces invaded Kiangsi, mainly through the offices of General Ho Ying-yun. Now that these two generals are entrusted with the subjugation of Fukien, it is not expected that they will meet with any serious obstacles, since the Navy has already declared its independence.

It is also stated that General Chang Ye, after retreating from Chang Chow to Tung On, as previously reported, has further retreated to Chang Chow, and, meeting with serious opposition from the People's Army, is now falling back on Hingwah, which is about forty miles from Fookchow.

It is said that there will be no support for Fukien from Chokiang, as every available soldier will be required to defend the latter territory.

PEACE IN YUNNAN.

With regard to the situation in Yunnan, a report states that since the civil officers have prevailed on General Tang Chi-yao not to plunge the province into war, both the civil and military officials have been heartily co-operating with each other in the development of the natural resources of the province and in strengthening home defences. The result has been apparent even to the casual observer and the best proof of the improvement is that the bank-notes of the Fu Tien Bank, a Government concern, have gone up 20 per cent in value. Not only are the people finding more employment but a considerable number of those who have led the life of a soldier are now returning to the ordinary avocations of peace.

VITAL QUESTION OF HOURS.

WILL MINERS' DELEGATES AGREE.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.

Rugby, Nov. 9.

There was no development in the coal situation to-day.

The Miners' Executive met to prepare a report for to-morrow's Conference of delegates. It will be put to the delegates whether they will accept district settlements that may, and indeed will, provide for a working day exceeding seven hours in order to secure national safeguards and principles. It was stated to-day by Mr. Cook, the Secretary of the Miners' Federation, that he and other members of the Executive remained adamant against longer hours. But he added that was a matter which the delegates must decide for themselves. It appears, therefore, that the only of accepting longer hours is to be thrown upon the delegates and if the delegates do accept, this question will no longer remain an obstacle to a settlement. Mr. Cook admitted that the other obstacles are not very great.

MORE MEN AT WORK.

Meanwhile, to-day's report of the number of men employed in the pits shows the very substantial increase of 9,351 bringing the total up to 313,684. It is an important factor in the situation that practically one-third of the miners are now working under district settlements based upon a working day of over seven hours. This, it is thought, must considerably influence to-morrow's delegates conference in the direction of accepting longer working hours.

QUESTIONS IN COMMONS.

When the House of Commons re-assembled this afternoon, one of the first questions had reference to the loss incurred by the nation through the coal stoppage and general strike of last May.

Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, President of the Board of Trade, said the losses of production had been estimated as amounting to between £250,000,000 and £300,000,000. The losses due to the disturbance of trade and contracts and orders not secured were not included in that figure. It was impossible to estimate the amount.

Colonel Lane Fox, Secretary for Mines, said that about ten and a half millions tons of coal had been produced from British mines since the beginning of May. Approximately 15,500,000 tons of coal had arrived in British ports.—British Wireless.

London, Nov. 9. Colonel Lane Fox added that the output from outcrop workings had varied between 60,000 and 100,000 tons per week. He declined to give the average price of the coal the Government had imported.

AMERICAN CRUISER HERE.

STAYING FOR ABOUT A FORTNIGHT.

The flagship of the United States Asiatic Fleet, the U.S.S. Huron, arrived in the Colony this morning. The cruiser will be staying for about a fortnight.

The Commander-in-Chief of the American naval forces in the East, Admiral C.S. Williams, is on board.

After a visit to Cavite, the U.S.S. Huron, it is understood will return to U.S.A., and will be relieved on the Station by the U.S.S. Pittsburg.

Admiral Williams' yacht, the U.S.S. General Alava, is expected to-day.

THE NEW CHINA PROBLEM.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN TO THE TREATIES?

A BIG INTERNATIONAL ISSUE.

A grave international problem arises between the Powers and China as a result of the abrogation by the Peking Government of the Sino-Belgian Treaty. Treaties with other Powers are shortly expiring, and in view of the attitude of China on the subject it would appear that a turning point has been reached in the whole question of China's foreign relations.

Various aspects of the problem are dealt with in the contributed article to the Telegraph, which appears below, the conclusion of the writer being that the Powers should again be called together to consider the general China situation.

Although for many months past we have all been deeply concerned over the trend of events affecting the relationships between this Colony and Canton, and also over happenings in China as a whole, there are doubtless but a few people who are able fully to grasp the tremendously serious problem which lies ahead to be solved regarding China (perhaps one ought to say, the Chinese), and her relations with Foreign Powers. We are now right up against a big international problem that calls for early solution, and as so very much of great importance depends on the nature of that solution, it will not be unprofitable to examine, in brief, the essentials of that problem.

SIGNIFICANT MOVE.

Wherever one looks in China to-day, there is evidence of a growing desire among the Chinese, no matter to what particular faction they might belong, to throw off all foreign "trammels," and to insist on full and unhampered independence. The abrogation of the Belgian Treaty this week is a case in point. It is very significant that the announcement of the abrogation comes from Peking—it is not the act of "Nationalist" Canton but is the course pursued by Chinese administrators in the Northern capital—men directly in formally "recognised" contact with the diplomatic representatives of the outside international world. A new departure of late, also, has been the imposition of "consumption" taxes by provincial Chinese authorities, in direct contravention of Treaty restrictions and thus flaunting the Maritime Customs which operate often just alongside. There is a general clamour for the abolition of "unequal" Treaties, and all over China as there is a desire to abolish foreign Consular jurisdiction, which we know as extra-territoriality, and for the Chinese authorities to assume full rights of administrative freedom and Customs autonomy.

VITAL QUESTIONS.

By the abrogation of the Belgian Treaty, Belgian subjects in China are now on the same level as Austrian, German and Russian subjects, and it is very important and interesting to remember that the period of the Sino-Japanese Treaty shortly expires. What will happen then? Will Japan give up all Consular rights over the thousands of her nationals in China? And when the Sino-British and Sino-American Treaties come into the realm of practical politics by the passage of time, what is going to be the policy of these two Great Powers, and what is going to be China's attitude towards them?

These are vital questions. There is no doubt at all that China as a whole desires the abolition of all restrictive Treaties, wants the return of all her territory, either leased or ceded, plus the full return of her sovereign rights to do as she likes within her own borders, either by way of tariffs or Customs or anything else. But not even the most fervent student-patriot would deny that this desire raises extraordinarily serious and difficult problems which involve the future destiny of this great country.

NO GOVERNING ABILITY.

It is a plain simple statement of the truth to say that the Chinese do not yet possess the ability to govern themselves well. They are not socially organised and as Western ideas are making inroads into an age-long set of customs there is even a temporary increase in the normal chaos. The Chinese are a paradox—highly civilised for centuries they have succeeded in missing an appreciation of the practicalities and needs of everyday life. Public affairs are all haphazard and very largely corrupt; roads are not built; railways have been built by foreigners and then mismanaged by the Chinese; rivers are allowed to silt up; navigable channels neglected; the administration of justice is but loosely codified and largely a matter of the personal whim of he who is possessed of the power to dispense it; education is in a maze of uncertainty; Chinese manufacture arms and munitions in different parts of the country to kill other Chinese; and there are heaps and heaps of other unorganised matters such as the humbug about opium, military rivalries, powerful banditti, cruelty, poverty—a whole polyglot of tangles which only the Chinese could have drifted into.

A FINE PEOPLE.

Mixed up with all this is a wonderfully lovable character and many fine human attributes that make foreigners in most intimate touch declare that the Chinese are among the world's finest people. Often has it been said that China is the despair of her best friends, and the problem which arises now is one which those who would help her most will have the burden of solving. It cannot be said that China is a nation in the sense that Britain, Germany, America or France are nations.

We have only to take the case of Tsingtao, which, since being handed over to the Chinese, has been allowed to drift steadily towards ruin and decay, to establish China's present inability to rule her own territory in anything like a satisfactory manner.

ENORMOUS INTERESTS.

It is a certainty that if there were no restraints in China such as are now imposed by the presence of foreigners enjoying no Chinese protection for their trade and property, the country would more than ever become the home of outlawry and outrage. There are enormous interests at stake—Chinese as well as foreign. The interests of trade are very real and vital, not to be summed up as representing just so many dollars of invested capital or as a desire of foreign traders to trade and make money, but to be weighed fully as affecting the welfare and interests of hundreds and thousands of people. And there are all the important social interests and ramifications of western penetration through religious and educational organisations. Bound up with this problem of China's relation to the outside world and her treatment of foreigners within her borders are tremendous issues, all too little realised.

To put the question bluntly:—Are the foreigners going to get out of China? Are all the carefully built-up interests nurtured under the protection of the Treaties going to be surrendered in deference to the plea that China has a national right to do as she likes? Are all the Settlements, Concessions, etc., going back to the

CHINA'S TREATIES.

SPAIN'S TURN NEXT.

Peking, Nov. 9.
The cabinet this morning approved the Walchlaopu's suggestion for the formation of a special Commission to study and prepare for revision all the Sino-Foreign treaties due to expire soon. The Walchlaopu's memorandum called attention to the fact that the Sino-
Spanish treaty expires on May 10, 1927 and the Cabinet decided to notify Spain five months in advance of China's desire for its revision.—Reuter.

American Interest.

Washington, Nov. 9.
It is the considered view of the State Department that the terms of the Sino-American commercial treaty do not permit denunciation by either party. Attention is drawn to article 17 of the treaty providing that either party may demand a revision at the end of ten years from the date of exchange of ratifications, namely January 13, 1903, failing which the treaty will remain in full force for a further ten years.

According to the strict letter of the treaty, the question even of revision would appear to be in abeyance until January 13, 1934, but the State Department recalls that the Powers agreed to the Tariff Conference, also the investigation into extraterritoriality.

The fact that the Sino-Belgian treaty apparently does not confer on China the right to initiate negotiations for a revision, although it entitles the King of the Belgians to do so, is so radical a variation from the terms of the American treaty as to permit the American Government to remain an unparticipating, though interested, listener in the Sino-Belgian discussion.—*Reuter's
American Service*.

BASEBALL JUBILATIONS.—The riotous celebrations pictured took place in St. Louis, U. S. A., when news came that the Cardinals had won the National League pennant—the city's first pennant since the early '80s. Business stopped and the whole city turned out to celebrate.

CHINESE STUDENTS IN THE UNITED STATES.—A party of 1926 Chinese students, and the Northern Pacific Railway's special train which carried them from Seattle to Chicago. The photo was taken in the famous Cascade Mountains at Stampede Pass, where they inspected Stampede Tunnel, one of the greatest engineering feats in the world.

EXILED COUNT.—Exiled from his native land, Count Michael Karolyi, first president of Hungary, is a familiar figure at the sidewalk cafes of Paris, where he sips coffee and writes his memoirs. This shows him in one of his favourite haunts on the Montparnasse.

COBBAM'S RETURN.—Alan Cobham, lands on the Thames opposite the Houses of Parliament completing his 25,000-mile flight to Australia and back. He has been knighted because of the feat. Cobham flew slightly more than the distance around the world. He was stopped last summer when an Arab took a shot as he flew over the desert. Cobham's mechanic was killed, but he himself resumed the attempt.

REMEDY ELSEWHERE.

CHARGES AGAINST MANAGER
UNPROVED.

"If these people have been done, their remedy lies in the Supreme Court, not here," commented Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday when he discharged the manager of the Wang Lee Co., Sai Tung On Street, Heung Shan who was charged with obtaining $1,230 by fraud.

The company had a branch office in Hongkong and the prosecution alleged that people deposited various sums of money with the defendant in connection with the charter of the m.s. Kong Ning which they said had been taken over by the concern.

At a previous hearing it was stated that men replied to advertisements and were given various positions after giving security. The firm's work in connection with the vessel did not materialise however and their deposits were not repaid.

European Concerned.

Yesterday witnesses gave evidence to the effect that they were engaged in various capacities by the firm in readiness for its starting business. None of the witnesses stated that they had been told that the vessel had been bought, and Mr. Lindsell said the point at issue was whether the firm was a bogus one or not.

Mr. G. R. Haywood who appeared for the defence said the money deposited was not found in the safe and that at least two other people besides the defendant had access to it.

Inspector Fallon, who was in charge of the prosecution said a European had been interested in the firm but he had gone away. Asked by the Magistrate if the man had run away, Inspector Fallon said that he had not. He was in need of work and went away on board ship.

Mr. Haywood pointed out that the document handed to those who were employed by the company was merely a prospectus saying what the company would do. It did not say that the vessel had been bought.

Mr. Lindsell said there was nothing that did not seem to be seriously innocent about the firm, and discharged the defendant.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1926.

THE ISLAND WATER SUPPLY.

In view of the fact that the Government is soon to lay before the Legislative Council a sessional paper dealing with the whole question of the Colony's water supply, it is sincerely to be hoped that no effort will be made to present any cut-and-dried scheme which will have the effect of postponing to an indefinite date the solution of the problem so far as it concerns the island of Hongkong. We have already been given indications of the Government policy on the subject, which is to embark on an altogether new project, but the general consensus of opinion, so far as we can ascertain, is distinctly opposed to such method of dealing with the question. First and foremost, it is felt that such a course would entail undue and unnecessary delay in tackling the problem, and in this connection it has to be borne in mind that the greater the delay, the bigger will the eventual cost be. That is inevitable in these days when all costs are on a progressively rising scale. His Excellency the Governor may be correctly forecasting the future when he speaks of Kowloon developing to such an extent that it will need far more water than is at present available, but of far greater urgency than providing for that day is the necessity of seeing that the island's needs are fully and quickly met. If, in the dim and distant future, Kowloon should need more water than can be supplied from the Shing Mun scheme after Hongkong's requirements have been met therefrom, there is no reason that we can see why the scheme should not be further extended so as to cope with the mainland's growing needs. Seeing, therefore, the progress which has already been made with the Shing Mun scheme, and the amount of money which will eventually be spent on it, there is every reason why that scheme should be pushed on with as originally intended, so that the Shing Mun waters may be brought across the harbour. The cost of the undertaking could well be met from the proceeds of a loan.

In taking account of the island's future needs in respect of water, the advisability of permanently closing the Pokfulam reservoir should be borne in mind. Since the motor road to the Peak was completed, the contents of this particular reservoir have been subject to serious discolouration owing to the washing down of "spoilt" earth from the hillside, and this has also had the additional effect of decreasing the reservoir's storage capacity. Moreover, Pokfulam reservoir is always the first on the island to go out of commission in the dry season, and this causes the West Point district to be placed on the rider main system earlier than other parts of the city. What is of equal if not greater importance is that the existence of this reservoir holds up building development to a very serious extent, for the authorities will not permit the erection of houses on the many excellent natural sites adjacent to and above this particular reservoir. This factor will also apply to any scheme which the Government has in mind for building new reservoirs on the southern side of the island. If, therefore, the island water supply problem is to be properly dealt with, it would be well to do away with the Pokfulam reservoir altogether and also to refrain from embarking on any new project on this side of the harbour. Should this course of action be decided upon, the only practical alternative will be to bring across the harbour the Shing Mun waters. That is the real solution of the problem, and if the work is expedited as it should be, we venture to assert that that will not only be the best but the cheapest course to adopt.

Volunteer Camps.

It was rather more than a pity that there was such a meagre attendance for the full week-end of members of the Armoured Car Company and Mounted Infantry Company at the Volunteer Camp, near Fanling, because the programme of the annual camp of the Corps this year has been so arranged that members will benefit most if they make two-day stays. Spread over six week-ends, it is intended that each Company shall have two week-ends of two days each, and a most interesting training programme has been arranged on those lines. Of course, it may so happen that a man cannot possibly get out on one or other of the week-ends arranged by his Company and he then has the choice of going on any other of the week-ends. But it is desired by those in control of the Corps that as many of each Company as possible go out with their own units and participate in the work arranged. Only fourteen out of 85 in the Mobile Section and Machine Gunners spent a complete two days in Camp last week-end, and a much better muster is hoped for in the coming week-end. Members ought to be prepared to go out on the Friday evening train, or by the early morning train on Saturday morning (6.40 a.m.) and stay on until the Sunday evening. They should take particular note of the week-ends specially allotted to their units and make every possible effort to go at those times. Otherwise it is difficult for the work to be carried out. The lengthy report of last week-end's doings in camp which we published yesterday told its own tale of healthful exercise and interesting work and, as the weather out at Fanling at this time of the year is a treat to enjoy, there ought to be no dilatoriness in the men turning up.

There is quite a "human" domestic story told in the film, "The Poverty of Riches," now being shown at the Queen's Theatre. It deals with a conflict between a woman's love for children and her husband's ambition for material advancement and is very forcefully presented by an able cast headed by Richard Dix and Leatrice Joy. Some excellent screen snapshots and a very funny Christie comedy go to make up the programme. The next change at the Queen's is on Thursday, when Lon Chaney will be seen in "The Monster," which is described as a super-thriller.

MARRIAGES TROUBLES.

WIFE'S APPLICATION IN COURT.

Stating that the separation was forced on her by her husband when she became ill and temporarily lost her reason after the birth of their first child, a young Chinese woman related a distressing story of her marital experiences when applying for a maintenance order before Mr. R. E. Lindsell, at the Central Magistracy this morning.

The woman, who gave her surname as Mak, and her age as 23, stated that she was bought into a family carrying on business as the "Shun Lee" at Wanchai Road, and occupied a position formerly defined under the term of mui-tai.

She was given in marriage, at the age of 19, to Yau Pang, a widower, and the ceremony of marriage carried through was that which was known as a tin-fong wedding. They lived at the house of her father-in-law, until the birth of their first and only child, which died three months after birth. During a period of illness which followed, she lost her reason, and her husband induced her to separate from him and to live apart in a house at Lantern Street.

She was given $14 a month for maintenance and a further $6.15 for the rent of her cubicle. This allowance came to her regularly, until the beginning of the seventh moon of this year when, on the only occasion on which she succeeded in seeing him, at a chance meeting in the street, she was told that the monthly allowance would be limited to $14. No reason was given by her husband for this cutting down of the sum previously agreed upon, but she believed it was owing to the fact that he had married a concubine.

The allowance suddenly stopped and it then became necessary to bring the matter before the Secretary for Chinese Affairs. The husband was then required to pay to her a sum of $16 per month, but the agreement was not carried out by the man, and this application was made for the enforcement of an order of maintenance.

As the defendant was not present in Court, evidence was taken from a lukong that the summons had been duly served on him at an address given.

The Magistrate now issued a warrant for the defendant's arrest, and directed the woman to again appear before him on Friday.

Did Adam's ankles lurk inside Gorrilla hide?

"Now dear," said the bridegroom, "let's have an understanding before we go any farther. What are you going to be, the president of the household or the vice-president?"

"Oh, neither," replied the bride, "just make me the treasurer."

Young doctors should give ear to this overheard reminiscence of an old one from a Midland town.

"When I started in an old house in a likely quarter I found that my predecessor had received so many callers that the trudge of their feet had worn most of the front-door step away. Foolishly I had a new one built in—and callers stopped coming. I couldn't understand it for a long time. Then I called in the mason again to wear the step away for me, to give it a worn appearance. I never looked back from that day. One sheep will always follow where another has been."

A hundred years of bell-ringing at Southwark Cathedral have just been completed by the Mash family. Thomas Mash, present head of the family, has been keeper of the cathedral tower for 33 years. His father was in charge of the tower for 30 years. Prior to that his grandfather held the same office.

Silver, we understand, is dirt cheap just now, says a writer in a Home journal. Indeed, a City expert tells us that it has been going almost begging for the last fortnight. Is it, then, worth while buying a ton or so to keep our empty cellars occupied? Is it worth while silvering over a few odd halfpennies to get change for a shilling one dark night? Or would one be arrested for uttering counterfeit coins containing too much silver? Is it worth while opening a jeweller's shop and cutting out the trade?

On mature consideration none of these courses of action seems to be worth while. Prices of silver articles in the jeweller's seem to be as high as ever, our silver coinage seems as base as ever and everybody seems as poor as ever. Still, it is satisfactory to know that silver is cheap.

SPECIAL SERVICE AT CATHEDRAL.

The Bishop of Victoria (The Rt. Rev. C. R. Dupper, D.D.) will give the address at the Special Service of Remembrance and Dedication to be held at the Cathedral to-morrow morning at 9.45 a.m. in connection with the Armistice Day observances.

Naval ratings and a detachment from the 2nd Batt. King's Own Scottish Borderers will attend, and the "Last Post" and "Reveille" will be sounded at the conclusion of the service.

His Excellency the Governor will lay a wreath on the Cathedral Memorial immediately after the service.

The ceremony at the Cenotaph where a Memorial Service will be held, promises to be most impressive. Naval and military detachments, Volunteer and Red Cross units, and members of the E.A.S.M.A. will be grouped round the monument and His Excellency the Governor will lay a wreath on behalf of the Colonial Government.

The Easma Club members are to parade at 10.30 a.m. in mufti, and wearing decorations.

The Mercantile Marine Officers are also making a special effort, members being asked to parade at the Star Ferry at 10.30 a.m. in mufti and wearing decorations.

TALAMBA TRIAL.

RESUMED WITH NEW JURY.

A DANGEROUS SOCIETY.

References were made to what was described as a "blackmailing and dangerous Triad Society" at Singapore, during the hearing of the Talamba murder case, which was recommenced before the Chief Justice, Sir Henry Gollan, and a fresh jury at the Criminal Sessions this morning.

The case is one in which a Chinese deportee is charged with the murder of another deportee on board the British steamer Talamba on the high seas while on the way from Singapore to Hongkong. The trial commenced yesterday morning, and at the beginning of the afternoon sitting his Lordship announced that one of the jurors had answered to someone else's name, and it was therefore decided that the proper course to follow was to discharge the jury and empanel another. This was done and the trial commenced again this morning. The Attorney General, Mr. J. H. Kemp appears for the Crown and Mr. H. G. Sheldon is defending.

One of the Chinese witnesses who was wounded during the affray, giving evidence, said he did not see a knife in the hand of the deceased, and he had had no quarrel with the prisoner. He did, however, see a knife in the prisoner's hand, but they had not been able to find it.

DANGEROUS SOCIETY.

Mr. Sheldon asked the witness what he meant when he said to the Police Magistrate that he had heard of the Yee Hing Tong, which was a gang at Singapore that came every month for money with threats; otherwise he would be beaten. Witness admitted saying that, and, in reply to another question, said the Tong had branches in Singapore, and people living there were afraid of the Tong.

Mr. Sheldon:—Would you agree with me if I say the Yee Hing Tong is a violent and dangerous Triad Society, and it has its headquarters in Singapore?—Yes.

Did you say, in reply to Mr. Kemp, "the Yee Hing Tong is a Guild belonging to the deceased's party; I don't belong to that Tong but they collect a tax of $1 a month?"—Yes, I said so.

Then I asked you what more you could tell us about it, and you said it was a name given to a boarding house for coolies. People went there when they were out of a job, and stayed until they could find work. They also went there when they were ill?—Yes.

Well that was untrue, was it not?—What I meant to say was that the members of the Yee Hing Tong told me I could go and stay there when I was out of a job, when they demanded money from me.

MEMBERS CHEATED.

So that ninety out of every hundred, who have paid this tribute can go and stay there when they are out of a job?—I believe the members of the Yee Hing Tong only told us that when they came for money. They might be cheating us.

When they are a blackmailing gang, obtaining money by threats, and also cheating their members?—Yes.

You are a member of the Yee Hing Tong?—I am, but I don't demand money from people.

Was the deceased a member of the Tong?—I have heard him telling me that he was a member.

Was he a member like yourself, or did he help to obtain money by threats?—I don't know.

Mr. Sheldon referred to a previous statement of the witness in which he said he did not belong to the Tong, but he had to pay money. The deceased was a member, as he told witness so in Singapore. Witness replied that he only paid $1 per month and did not demand money with threats. Other members, perhaps, did.

Mr. Sheldon asked whether witness meant by that that the deceased obtained money from others, but he himself did not.

Witness replied that he did not know, as the deceased had never told him.

NOT ACTIVE MEMBER.

In reply to further questions, witness denied that he told the Magistrate that the deceased col-

THE RECENT CANTON FIRE.

DOCUMENTS SAVED.

Latest Canton reports regarding the big fire which destroyed the Strike and Boycott Headquarters in Canton state that the casualties were at least fifty, and possibly more.

The Canton Gazette states that all the documents in the archives of the Headquarters were saved, as well as several thousand dollars kept by the Committee in a safe.

According to a report made by the Fire Brigade, the outbreak was caused by carelessness on the part of men working in the kitchen of the Canton-Hongkong Strike Committee.

On the evening of the fire, a meeting was held by the Strike Committee for the purpose of organising an investigation committee to ascertain the cause of the outbreak and also to discuss the question of securing new Headquarters.

LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET.

PREMIER'S CHEERFUL SPEECH.

London, Nov. 9. With traditional ceremony and splendour the Lord Mayor's Banquet took place at the Guildhall and was attended by the delegates to the Imperial Conference and the cream of English public life.

Responding to a toast, Mr. Stanley Baldwin referred to the Imperial Conference and said there had never been a conference wherein a better or more harmonious spirit had been manifested and wherein there was a more genuine desire to pave the way for further and more rapid progress in the future than they were able to achieve hitherto. He described the situation regarding foreign affairs as essentially more satisfactory than at any time since the end of the war. There was evidence on all sides in Europe of a clearer understanding that peace and stability were only realisable by co-operation and goodwill.

The Premier emphasised that the reconstruction of Europe had been the keystone of our foreign policy and he believed that British statesmanship, including the Labour Government, had played a not inconsiderable part therein in the past three years. He was able to speak more hopefully of India than for many years past and wished he was equally happy about our relations further afield.

[Mr. Baldwin's reference to the Chinese situation appears in another column.]

MURDER TRIAL THRILLS.

COURT LIKE SCIENTIFIC EXHIBITION.

New York, Nov. 9. The Court Room at Somerville in the Hall Mills murder trial, was today transformed into a scientific exhibition, firstly by enlarged reproductions of finger prints, and afterwards when Dr. Schultz, aided by wax models including a replica of Mrs. Mill's head, explained in lecture room manner how the various wounds were caused. A thrill ran through the room when he asserted that the larynx, tongue and upper part of the wind pipe were missing from the corpse when he performed an autopsy. He was of opinion that those organs had been cut out and not torn out.—Reuter's American Service.

lected money from people. He asserted that he only told the Magistrate that the deceased was a member.

Mr. Sheldon:—I suggest that you yourself are and have been an active member of the Tong, helping to collect money by threats?—I deny it.

Witness could not say whether the other Chinese who was wounded was a member of the Tong or not.

The trial was adjourned until this afternoon.

HORRORS OF WAR.

THOROUGH LOOTING IN NANCHANG.

EXECUTIONS IN STREET.

War clouds burst violently upon us again on Saturday the 9th. Oct., says the Nanchang correspondent of the Shanghai Times, writing under date of October 23rd. (On Sunday around us could be heard a hail of bullets, the rattle of quick-firing guns and the booming of cannon. Suddenly there was a terrific bang on what we thought was our front door. When we went to investigate it was found that the building opposite was being attacked by bandits.

This second battle was more terrific and of longer duration than the first one, the firing did not cease for five days and five nights—that was from Saturday till Thursday a.m.

LOOTERS BREAK IN.

Gangs of looters (mostly bandits, we understand, from Honan) did their dastardly work simultaneously with the firing.

People having safely barricaded their doors, the villainous looking men, armed to the teeth, pulled down bricks and mortar from the walls and crept in, demanding money at the point of the bayonet and threatening with death all who did not satisfy their demands, inflicting wounds even upon poor, helpless women.

The G. R. M. School was marvelously protected, for, being situated at the base of a portion of the city wall near a gateway where the most ferocious fighting took place, it was exceedingly dangerous, but its low level was its saviour. One of the big guns was placed at a point just above the compound, so the vibration was tremendous each time a shell was fired. However in God's mercy only one scholar was injured, and that but slightly by a bullet.

Soldiers entered the Misses Bergin and Dawson's home, forcing an entrance by smashing open a door. They broke open boxes and cupboards, scattering the contents all around, and taking away what they required. The ladies, fortunately, were away at the time.

C.I.M. HOUSE A WRECK.

The C.I.M. House was, unfortunately, just outside the south city gate in the direct line of fire, and is a complete wreck. The place was also looted after our friends were forced to leave and take refuge in their street chapel and later in the R. C. Hospital. Nothing remained to them, but the clothes they stood in, when they returned to search a few days later.

Outside the North gate, the American Girls' School foreign teachers' house also suffered badly, but they hope to be able to repair and use that again.

On Thursday early a.m. the Southerners retreated, and firing ceased, but, alas, the reign of terror continued for all the poor people in our district, for the bandits openly perpetrated their dastardly work even in our main street, and neighbours came rushing in, as armed men entered their dwellings threatening their lives and carrying off their goods.

BEHEADED IN STREET.

About 11 a.m. a band of armed men slowly advanced up the street holding aloft the symbol of Life and Death. The robbers were terrified and sought to hide, but right at our doors some were caught with loot in their hands, one was summarily beheaded, whilst others were bound and taken away. This happened in many districts, even women being decapitated in the streets when found in the act of plundering.

The public gained confidence and began to walk on the streets. They knew, however, all too well that the semblance of law executed one day could not be relied upon on the next.

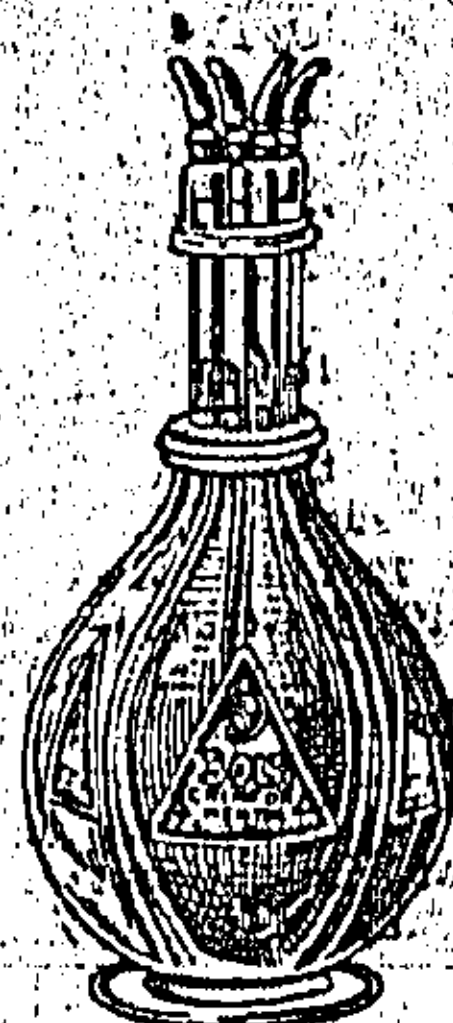

Practically every shop and home had been broken into and looted, so there was no food.

Pitiful indeed was the cry to be heard on every side: "we are starving, starving to death."

After many efforts we managed to secure some bags of rice, and are now doling out to our poor folks who would otherwise be starving.

Whole districts outside the city wall have been burnt out; hundreds must have perished in the flames.

All the shops have now been closed for over five weeks, and a further attack on the city is feared.

U. S. S. B. SHIPS.

THREE BIDS OFFERED FOR THEIR PURCHASE.

Washington, Nov. 9. Three bids have been submitted to the U. S. Shipping Board for the purchase of five ships of the Government's "merchant" line. Two bidders, namely the Winchester and Kenny companies of New York, offered also to charter five ships of the United States lines.

Both bidders fixed the price of each of the five vessels at $200,000. A third offer was made by Kermit Roosevelt who proposes to purchase the steamers for $250,000 each and to operate the United States lines on allocation by the Government.

The Winchester Company also propose to construct two additional express ships suitable to operate with the Leviathan at a total cost of $30,000,000 the Shipping Board to loan two thirds thereof under the Merchant Marine Act.

The latter Company offered $1,600,000 for either the President Harding or the President Roosevelt and the Atlantic Transport Company offered $1,000,000 for the Leviathan.—Reuter.

THE PRESIDENT HARRISON.

CARGO DISCHARGED.

Although no definite news is yet to hand with regard to the circumstances attending the grounding of the s.s. President Harrison, a cable has been received by the local agents to the effect that the vessel has been compelled to put back to Shanghai and will undergo survey. She will be held up indefinitely.

Cargo is being unloaded with all despatch and will be reshipped south by the President Madison and President Pierce. Both vessels are being speeded up and there will be no inconvenience to shippers.

Passengers have been given the option of alternate travel, while those booked from Hongkong to ports beyond are being allocated berths in other vessels, where time is a matter of urgency. Those preferring to do so may lay over in Hongkong until the next vessel of the round world service puts in, but in this case, it must be pointed out that there is no liability on the company. Bookings are being arranged in accordance with these plans.

U. S. COTTON CROP.

RESTRICTION EFFECTS ALREADY APPARENT.

New York, Nov. 9. Traders regard the comparative strength of the cotton market, despite the huge figures of today's estimate, eighteen million bales, compared with eight million in 1921, as the first sign of the good effects of the Government finance plan, involving the withdrawal of four million bales and the reduction of the 1927 acreage. Prices were only twenty-five off in the middle of the afternoon.

The Agricultural Department admits that uncertainty exists as regards the quantity of cotton which will be left unpicked, especially in view of the disposition of farmers to leave lower grades unharvested.—Reuter's American Service.

Kobe, Nov. 8. A submarine was launched here to-day, the details of which are kept a secret. It is reported, however, to be of 2,200 tons with a speed of 25 knots, carrying two 12 centimetre guns, also an anti-aircraft eight centimetre gun and an aeroplane.—Reuter.

CRICKET NOTES.

[BY "TWO LEGS."]

There were only two League matches played last week; both were brought to a definite conclusion which is rather unusual in half-day matches. In the Senior Division, as expected the R.A.'s easily accounted for the Chinese, while in the Junior Section the Civil Servants had hard luck in just losing to the University.

In the Interport Trial a Hongkong eleven drew with a strong Navy team. It is gratifying to see that the Hongkong side has at last, so it seems, found its batting form. A. W. Ramsay, a very enterprising bat, scored 140 runs (retired). From the first trial game, Ramsay has played good cricket all along and I am glad to see that he has at last "come off" as he must, sooner or later. It looks like he will be put in to open our innings against Shanghai, in partnership with Hayward.

A. W. Hayward also played a great game. Both these batsmen's performances are all the more creditable in view of the strong bowling they were up against. The "old hands," Pearce and Hancock, were not to be out-done and showed they could still score as fast as any. The score of 344 for 5 wickets put up by the Hongkong eleven is, I think a record for Saturday afternoon matches.

Given a true wicket during the Interport days, our chances are very rosy. In any case, one may look forward to some very bright play, as we must not forget that Shanghai, too, have their quota of fast scorers and in Barrett, Leach and Divecha they possess three expert wielders of the willow.

It is more than likely that Hongkong will be represented by the same XI which did duty against the Navy, on Saturday. If this surmise is correct, the team will be a very well-balanced one and will take a deal of beating. The batting is strong and the bowling, though perhaps not as good as the opposition, is the best that is available.

The wicket-keeping position, however, has caused some comment. By playing Pearce, it is felt in some quarters that Hongkong will be taking a big risk by which I mean that Pearce is too valuable a batsman to lay himself open to the hard knocks behind the stumps. It is fortunate, however, that the only fast bowler is perhaps Bowker; on a hard wicket he is very difficult to "keep" to. Provided there are no last minute changes the team will be—Hancock, Pearce, Hayward, Bowker, Owen Hughes, Morris, Ramsay, Dobbie, Parker, Reed and Goodwin.

The side will no doubt be captained by H. R. B. Hancock, who is perhaps the most experienced skipper in the Far East and certainly the best in Hongkong. "Dick," as he is familiarly known by his intimate friends, is still one of our finest batsmen. Fielding at first slip he can hold anything within reach.

T. E. Pearce is amongst the most polished batsmen on the whole side. The part he played in the victory in Shanghai a few years ago, off his own bat, is still fresh in the memory.

A. W. Hayward will very likely be one of our opening batsmen. He is a sound bat and fields excellently at mid-off; used to play a better game, I think, when he first arrived from Shanghai some two or three years ago. He should be able to give his side a good start off.

A. C. J. Bowker will be given the brunt of the attack. He is a fast bowler and can take on a lot of strenuous work without tiring; keeps a good length and is hard to score off. When not bowling will probably field at cover point; picks up and throws in very smartly. Not much of a bat, but is indispensable to his side as a bowler.

H. Owen Hughes is a splendid all-round player. Shines particularly as a fielder at second slip in partnership with Hancock. A

HOCKEY CLUB WIN.

BRISK GAME WITH THE PUNJABIS.

Two new men were tried out in the second team of the Hongkong Hockey Club at King's Park last evening, in a match against the 5/2 Punjabis, and both gave a good account of themselves. The Club won a well-contested game by the only goal scored. The match was played at a brisk pace, especially towards the finish.

Thomas and Slipper were the two new men, and they made up the right wing, the former playing inside and the latter outside. Noronha was one of the most effective forwards and contributed materially to the Club's victory by scoring within the first five minutes. Wheeler was another sound player, whilst Evans at back defended stoutly. Frank played a remarkably good game in goal, and brought off a number of fine saves.

The Punjabis showed that they have maintained their form from last season, and gave the Club a hard tussle.

TEAM FOR SUNDAY.

The following team will represent Kowloon British School Former Pupils' Association in a match against Club de Recreio at 10.30 a.m. on Sunday the 14th inst.—Ratton; Murphy, Jeffries; Hedley, Rasmussen, Kinross; Pearce, Mitchell, Matchin, Whitley, and Summers. Reserves: Harvey and Greenhalgh.

HOME FOOTBALL.

AN IMPORTANT CORRECTION.

Reuter wires us that an error was made yesterday in giving the result of the Dartington and Portsmouth match. The result was a win for Portsmouth by four clear goals, instead of a win by Dartington as stated.

very rapid scorer, he is also a useful change bowler.

Capt. E. W. Morris is probably included in the team for his batting alone. Greatly impressed in the trial matches. Bowls a medium slow ball but is not likely to be given a turn.

A. W. Ramsay has been playing very well all through the trials. A fearless batsman, he goes for the bowling at the very outset. Will probably field at third slip to Bowker and extra cover or in the "country" otherwise.

Capt. Dobbie is a recent arrival. He took part in only two trial matches. Scores rapidly and is quite at home to any kind of bowling. Is also a useful change bowler.

H. V. Parker is an all-rounder. Bats a style of his own, but always manages to keep the ball down. Will perhaps be given quite a bit of bowling to do.

E. B. Reed is one of our best, if not the best, bowler. Medium paced and breaks both ways. Expected to take quite a few wickets. F. C. Goodwin, who will probably be our first change bowler, possesses a good off break. Bowls medium inclined to fast; can always keep down the runs.

Shanghai will not be represented by their strongest XI, noticeable absentees being H. B. Oller-dessen and "Jimmy" Quayle. I am rather inclined to think that our visitors will be leaving their flag with us, but it won't be a one-sided affair by any means. My opinion is that the strength of our opponents will be felt more in their bowling than in any other department of the game. Dr. O'Hara and Isaacs will probably open their attack. Both left-handed, medium fast, they can be very deceptive in their pace. From all reports, Isaacs did very well this season in Shanghai and the veteran "doc" is as good as ever. Leach and Divecha are useful change bowlers and Midar, (slow right hand), may be given a little work to do.

In view of the late arrival of the Shanghai team—they get in on Armistice Day—the match is now fixed to commence on Saturday.

INTERPORT CRICKET.

MERITS OF VISITING TEAM.

The following critical analysis of the merits of the Shanghai team, which will play Hongkong in an Interport match to commence on Saturday, is from the Shanghai Times:

The Shanghai Interport cricketers on setting out to Hongkong carry with them the best wishes for a successful match from the local community. The eleven is a powerful one, containing some of the best all rounders in Shanghai, but at the same time does not include several of Shanghai's best cricketers, who have been unable to get away for the trip. It is, however, an eleven which should uphold the credit of this port.

There are several players new to Interport cricket, but as these will doubtless be Shanghai's crack players before many years are out, this is all to the good. L. F. Stokes, for instance, has looked like a potential scorer whenever he has been at the wickets this season, and that he does not figure more prominently on the list of averages is chiefly due to his lack of restraint. Restraint will come in time. In an interport fixture it is possible that there will be just the restraining atmosphere needed for this batsman to make a number of runs.

The side is full of such potential scorers who are also useful all rounders. Reckoning only the potential scorers, and leaving out those who can be regarded as almost certain to make runs unless something unforeseen happens, Shanghai has a useful batting side all the way down. Allison has not come off with the bat this season, but should he get his eye on the ball, he can hit bowling all over the field. With Isaacs also apt to hit, and hit hard, and Barnes, who has justly earned a reputation for keeping up his end, Shanghai do not possess a real tail.

OUTSTANDING PLAYERS.

On this season's performances, D. W. Leach is undoubtedly the outstanding man of the side. He heads the official average list in batting, with 1,010 runs, averaging out 48.2 per time at the wickets, and is third in the bowling averages, having taken 58 wickets in official first class matches for 12.5 runs apiece. Another outstanding all rounder is M. J. Divecha, who has the only official century in first class matches this season to his credit. Though Divecha has not been called upon to bowl as much as some of the regular trundlers, he took 21 wickets in his 59 overs for the remarkable figure of 7.8 apiece.

Divecha's cautious style of batting though perhaps not quite suited to matches which must be completed in one afternoon, is ideal for an interport match, where a good start for a side is half the game. Divecha can score fast enough once he has played himself in, and Shanghai will find him extremely useful in the Colony.

Captain Barrett possesses the experience necessary to captain the side to victory. In addition he is a most difficult batsman to beat if he decides to make runs, and is possibly the possessor of more strokes all around the wicket than any other batsman on the side. As already indicated he is taking down a side which should be excellent all round, in the field and at the wickets.

Dr. O'Hara and Isaacs, both left hand bowlers who can serve the ball in suitable conditions, will probably bear the brunt of the attack. As a fast trundler there is Allison, who has not had the success this season that he deserves. And with Mansel-Smith, the biggest wicket-taker of the season, as a slow bowler, and Leach always good for a few wickets, the attack seems to be about the best Shanghai can get together.

TRADE MARK CASE.

"FLYING FAIRY" BOOTS.
A summons for infringement of trade mark rights was brought by the Kwong Loong Tai firm of boots and shoes manufacturers of Canton, against the Sze Cheong firm, of No. 216, Queen's Road Central, before Mr. R. E. Lindsell this morning. Mr. C. Bulmer Johnson, of Messrs. Hastings, Dennys and Bowley, appeared for the complainants. An order was made by the magistrate for the handing over of the goods on which the trade-mark "Flying Fairy" appeared, for the obliteration of these trademarks, such goods to be returned to the defendants, after this had been done; and also for the payment of $50 by the defendants to the complainants by way of indemnification.

This order was made in pursuance of terms arrived at by both parties outside the Court, and of an undertaking by the defendants not to expose for sale, in the future, goods which bore these infringed trade marks.

Yesterday's health return shows three further cases of typhoid fever, the sufferers being an Australian and two Chinese.

TRADE MARK CASE.
"FLYING FAIRY" BOOTS.
A summons for infringement of trade mark rights was brought by the Kwong Loong Tai firm of boots and shoes manufacturers of Canton, against the Sze Cheong firm, of No. 216, Queen's Road Central, before Mr. R. E. Lindsell this morning. Mr. C. Bulmer Johnson, of Messrs. Hastings, Dennys and Bowley, appeared for the complainants. An order was made by the magistrate for the handing over of the goods on which the trade-mark "Flying Fairy" appeared, for the obliteration of these trademarks, such goods to be returned to the defendants, after this had been done; and also for the payment of $50 by the defendants to the complainants by way of indemnification.

This order was made in pursuance of terms arrived at by both parties outside the Court, and of an undertaking by the defendants not to expose for sale, in the future, goods which bore these infringed trade marks.

ADULTERATED MUSTARD.

CASE RE-OPENED BY PROSECUTION.

On the application of the Crown, Mr. J. H. B. Nihill consented to reopen a case which he dismissed some time ago in respect of the master of a Chinese druggist shop, who was charged with selling to Sanitary Inspection Elliot, mustard which was not of the standard and substance required by the purchaser.

The case originally came before the Kowloon Magistrate on September 24, when the defendant was acquitted on a charge of selling adulterated mustard, on the grounds that persons obtaining mustard from druggists' shops purchased such commodity for its medicinal value and would not be prejudiced if they obtained a mixture of mustard and some other substance.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Nihill permitted the case to be reopened on the application of the Crown, represented by Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith, on the condition that further evidence would be produced to show that it was not the practice of Chinese druggists to sell mustard in a weakened state.

Crown's Submission.
 Mr. Whyte-Smith said that it was irrelevant as far as the Crown was concerned whether that evidence was called or not. He would be calling such evidence under "protest." His submission was that if mustard was asked for, then mustard it had to be.

The Crown did not admit that if such a custom, as held in the present case, existed, the prosecution could not obtain a conviction.

Mr. Whyte-Smith called Dr. Yu Pak-tong, Chinese medical officer of the Tung Wah Hospital. Witness said that he had been with the hospital for five years and prior to that time he had been in practice in Canton for 10 years. He was not qualified in Western medicine.

Dr. Yu said that he was aware mustard was used for medicinal purposes, both internally and externally. He was unable to state whether it was usual for the Chinese druggist to mix mustard with another substance. He was of the opinion, however, that a mixture would reduce the strength of the mustard, whereas full strength would be required by the user.

If he purchased mustard and found that it contained 25 to 30 per cent. starchy substance, witness said that he would not consider it to be proper mustard and if he had found out prior to accepting it from the shop, he would refuse to take it.

Full Strength Required.
 Witness would naturally require the mustard to be full strength if he wanted to purchase any. Witness had never heard of Chinese druggists mixing mustard with some other commodity.

If witness had been given mustard mixed with something else he would consider that he had been defrauded.

In reply to Mr. d'Almada, witness said that he had seventeen years practical experience altogether. During the time that he had been at the Tung Wah Hospital, he had prescribed mustard for internal and external uses. For the former purpose, the mustard seed was boiled with other medicines while the powder was used for external cures.

For any skin disease, the amount of mustard to be used depended on the nature of the wound, and the strength of the powder would be reduced accordingly.

Mr. d'Almada: I want to tell you that I am going to produce incontrovertible evidence that the mustard which the Chinese druggists sell contains 70 per cent. pure mustard and 25 to 30 per cent. of green pea powder.

Witness: That is their business.

Mixed With Starch.

Replying to further questions witness said that it was possible the mustard used by Chinese women as a hair wash was adulterated. Sometimes starch was mixed by the doctor using the mustard to make it adhere to the sore.

In answer to his Worship, witness said it would be convenient if mustard was purchased with a little starch as it would save the doctor the trouble of mixing it himself.

Dr. G. W. Pope, M. O. H., said that he had seen mustard used as a medicine and agreed with Dr. Yu that it had to be pure mustard when purchased from the druggist. Witness said that supposing a little starch was necessary to make the plaster stick, only about 5 per cent. would be used.

Cross examined by Mr. d'Almada, witness said that he had never received any complaints regarding the mustard sold by the Chinese druggists. Witness agreed with Mr. d'Almada that there was no actual statutory standard for mustard as there was for milk, but he inferred from the Ordinance that it was to be taken that the standard had to be 100 per cent.

Mr. d'Almada: Would this starchy matter be deleterious or injurious to health?

Dr. Pope: No. There would not be any harm.

After further evidence the case was adjourned.

THE NEW CHINA PROBLEM.

control of Chinese? And if so, under what terms and under what Chinese Government? One doesn't know what the Chinese Government of the future is going to be—whether the country as a whole will be under one Capital, such as Peking or Canton, or whether it is going to be administered regionally with no central authority. It may be that China will more truly become merely a geographical expression, like Europe, and consist of several countries having their independent government, without being federated in any way. One is left wondering whether there is enough conscious national spirit to insist in the retention of China as we know it, but with spasmodic outbreaks of fighting in the struggle to see who shall rule it.

DIPLOMATIC DILEMMA.

Diplomatically, the Powers are, at the moment, more or less impotent because there is no-one with whom to deal. Canton is not "recognised," the Peking administration is composed of a set of nominal officials acting not for China but for whichever military group happens to be in power. Conferences on Customs tariff revision and extra-territoriality have, even this year, collapsed because there is no stable Government in Peking capable of speaking or acting for China. The various State Departments in Peking function but indifferently. Obviously, the world cannot let China go under in a welter of internecine strife and muddle, and neither can the Powers much longer remain witnesses to China's inefficiency and ineffectiveness as a member of the world of nations. The question which is coming up for early decision is:—Are the Powers going to retain their hold for the sake of China, themselves and the world at large? America's justification for administering the Philippines and Britain's justification for administering India could very genuinely be pleaded in the case of an imposed administration in China. It is no empty phrase to say that it would

TWICE ARRESTED.

RICKSHA INCIDENT IN KOWLOON.

Arrested twice in one day, on similar charges, a cook employed by a ricksha farmer, appeared before Mr. J. H. B. Nihill, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, on a charge of fighting in the public street and behaving in a disorderly manner.

Two other Chinese, who were involved in the first fight, were also charged with disorderly conduct. Prosecuting, Sergeant Hargreaves, said the cook was on his way to the market, when he met a ricksha coolie arguing with a fare. The cook joined in, and, later, when both the coolie and his fare had left the scene, two of the latter's folk continued the argument with the cook. A fight ensued and on the arrival of a Chinese sergeant the parties were taken to the Police Station and charged. Immediately the men went out on bail, the cook collected a number of ricksha coolies and attacked the premises of the other two men.

Police whistles were blown and a message was received at the Station to the effect that an armed robbery had been committed.

The cook was again arrested and charged a second time.

On the first charge, the three men were bound over to be of good behaviour whilst the cook was fined $10 in addition on the other count.

be to the benefit of the Chinese themselves just as it can be argued and proved that the Filipinos and the Indians have immeasurably benefitted by outside direction and protection.

The problem of China and her attitude to the rest of the world and to her past relations with that world is the one with which the present day finds itself faced. We have to settle broad principles first. If China is not prepared to negotiate on Treaty revision, a situation of the utmost gravity arises. That can best be met by again calling together the interested Powers, in accordance with one of the terms of the Washington Treaty, which makes provisions for fresh consultations when issues arise affecting the signatories in their relation with China.

ANGLO-GERMAN RELATIONS.

EXCHANGE OF CORDIAL SENTIMENTS.

Berlin, Nov. 9.
In presenting his credentials to President Hindenburg, Sir Ronald Lindsay, the new British Ambassador, spoke of the cordial Anglo-German relations as promising fruitful Anglo-German co-operation. He said that Locarno and Germany's entry into the League of Nations had opened a new epoch in international history and they might anticipate a period of uninterrupted conciliation and ever-increasing security.

President Hindenburg, in reply, expressed his gratitude to King George for the friendly wishes His Majesty had expressed in a personal letter. He shared Sir Ronald Lindsay's hope of a new epoch in the history of the nations, and at the same time trusted that all Powers appreciated political and economic co-operation in a spirit of mutual concessions and taking account of the national and economic exigencies of the individual nations.—Reuter.

DR. J. H. THOMAS.

HONOURED BY OXFORD.

Rugby, Nov. 9.
Oxford University to-day conferred upon Mr. J. H. Thomas, the Labour Leader, and ex-Minister, the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law.

The Public Orator in his introductory oration, delivered in Latin, described Mr. Thomas as one who had spent an active life in improving the lot of the workers and who was commended by his moderation and sense of justice. There was nothing in Mr. Thomas' picture of a country ruled by Labour which need offend such laborious persons as members of the University and Mr. Thomas recognised the importance of a University education for all classes of the community.—British Wireless.

Athens, Nov. 9.
The Republican victory is confirmed. The final figures in the elections were Republicans 183, and the others 111.—Reuter.
